The large number "3" to the far left indicates the horse's saddlepath, betting and post position number. The smaller numbers below, in this case 3-1, are the morning line odds of this horse. This is the track handicapper's opinion of the probable closing odds for this horse. The "WHITE" indicates the horse's saddlecloth color. The space below the color, which in this example is blank, is reserved for two different uses. The first and most common is the horse's claiming price. If the horse were in a $3,000 claiming race, then the number in this space would be either 3000 or greater, depending on whether the horse was entitled to an additional allowance for age or sex. The second use for this space occurs when two horses are coupled in the wagering. In this unusual case both horses will share a common saddlecloth number but will have different post positions, which will be indicated in this space.

Moving to the right, the top line in capital letters indicates the horse's driver in this race, Heath Campbell, followed by his age in parentheses. Below the driver's information is the horse's name, indicated in the largest print. The symbol (L) after the horse's name indicates he will use the medication Lasix for this race. The line directly underneath the horse's name shows his dollar earnings for his racing career.
